One-Day Workshop Package

Responsive Classroom one-day workshops are a great way to introduce educators to Responsive Classroom or to deepen the learning of those who have completed a four-day course. There is a workshop for everyone on staff, including elementary and middle school classroom teachers, support staff, and special area teachers.

- Price: $12,000 inclusive of three workshops
- Modality: Virtual
- Flexible scheduling: Full day or three 2-hour evenings per one-day workshop
- Materials: Coincide with each workshop, shipped to one central location

Choose any 3 of our contracted one-day workshops, introductory and advanced, based on the needs of the school!

Introductory workshops

► Introduction to Responsive Classroom

In this one-day introduction to the Responsive Classroom approach you'll learn how Responsive Classroom practices help teachers to foster positive community, integrate academics with the teaching of social and emotional skills, and create the conditions for positive student behavior.

► Support Staff Working Together

Students learn and grow best when the adults in their community work together to support them. In this workshop, you'll learn how to apply Responsive Classroom principles and practices in non-classroom environments, such as the cafeteria, after-school programs, and the bus, in order to create consistency between adult actions and student expectations throughout the day.

► Special Area Teachers

Special area teachers face unique challenges—tasked with imparting expertise across grade levels, in small windows of time, often with an entire week between classes. You are also uniquely positioned to become experts in child development, supporting students as they grow and change year after year. Learn how core Responsive Classroom practices can be used to explore the opportunities and address the challenges of special area settings.

Responsive Classroom®

Creating safe, joyful, and engaging classrooms

Advanced workshops (Prerequisite: Completion of a four-day course)

► Responding to Misbehavior

We've all been there: power struggles, defiance, meltdowns—all those particularly thorny behaviors. Learn effective strategies for understanding, addressing, and reducing challenging behavior in the classroom.

► Improving Teacher and Student Language

Words are the foundation on which teaching, learning, and relationships are built. This workshop gives you the opportunity to assess, reflect upon, and improve both teacher and student language in your classroom in order to deepen academic engagement and learning.

► Connecting Morning Meeting to Academics

You already use Morning Meeting to transition students into the school day and build your classroom community. Now, learn how to enhance this essential practice by examining how each of its four components can be used to teach both social skills and learning behaviors and how Morning Meeting can increase academic engagement and improve connection to and understanding of the core curriculum.

► Sustaining Responsive Classroom Momentum

Sustaining momentum and change can be a challenge. Teachers may start out strong but lose steam during both the school day and the school year. Along the way, excitement and enthusiasm for the approach may dwindle. In this workshop, you'll deepen your understanding of Responsive Classroom practices that support change throughout the day and the year, and learn strategies that help both you and students stay motivated and focused during especially challenging or tricky times.
