

Connecting Morning Meeting to Academics Workshop

Walk away with hundreds of Morning Meeting ideas that can be adapted to your unique learning environment

Great cognitive growth occurs through social interaction. You are already using Morning Meeting to support this development in your students. Now, learn how to use the four components of this essential practice to increase academic engagement in your classroom and improve students' connection to and understanding of the core curriculum. In this one-day workshop, you'll explore practices and strategies for teaching both social and academic skills during Morning Meeting while continuing to meet your students' needs for belonging, significance, and fun.

Key Features

- Develop Interactive Modeling lessons to teach skills during Morning Meeting
- Plan Morning Meetings that connect to the curriculum while growing social skills, academic skills, and learning behaviors
- Learn hundreds of Morning Meeting ideas that will help students experience belonging, significance, and fun

“

I would highly recommend this to all of my colleagues.

–Nicole, 2020 participant

A great way to learn about planning your Morning Meeting in a more purposeful way.

–Jillian, 2020 participant

Very timely and worthwhile.

–Robert, 2020 participant

”

IMPORTANT DETAILS:

- Suitable for grades K–6
- Prerequisite: 4-day Responsive Classroom Elementary Core Course
- Resources included:
 - Connecting Morning Meeting to Academics Resource Book
 - Doing Language Arts in Morning Meeting
 - Doing Math in Morning Meeting
 - Doing Science in Morning Meeting
 - Doing Social Studies in Morning Meeting

