

Consultant Observation and Feedback Visit

One-day service

Suitable for educators of grades pre-K–6

On-site, data-informed consulting to support schoolwide implementation of the Responsive Classroom approach.

Providing educators with ongoing support is a crucial component in the multiyear process of schoolwide Responsive Classroom implementation. The Consultant Observation and Feedback Visit (COFV) is a full-day, on-site visit by a Responsive Classroom educational consultant who provides observational feedback and advice on your school's next steps.

During the visit, the educational consultant collects data with the online, rubric-based tool Kaleidoscope. Observations in classrooms and nonclassroom spaces are shared with leadership to define schoolwide patterns and identify growth opportunities.

Important Details

1. Prerequisite: At least half of the school staff has attended a four-day course

2. Resources included:

- A Quick Coaching Guide 30-pack of your choice
- A one-year subscription to Kaleidoscope

A Responsive Classroom consultant will:

- Observe up to ten classrooms and several nonclassroom spaces using Kaleidoscope
- Lead a sixty-minute debrief meeting with school leaders to summarize the observation findings
- Identify additional professional development opportunities and outline possible next steps
